Reviewer D
In general, this research deserves to be published in the JMI. However, there are errors in placing the model design and model explanation which are more precise in the method chapter.	Revised model design to method chapter. Model explanation still on results & analysis. Please check on page 4.
Please be consistent in writing references or use software references that can help you compile a list of references	Improvement has been done. Please check on page no 9-10.
In Conclusion: there is a statement "Therefore, in the future research, we will support this research to do qualitative research to explore other attributes of entrepreneurship as new variables. The model can be used by entrepreneurs, academician and policy makers as an illustration of creative-social entrepreneurship behaviour applied." --> please provide extra information why this approach is necessary	This section has been improved. Generally, this research underlined in Resources Based View (RBV) theory, while the novelty from the finding related to enlarging the concept of inclusive entrepreneurship. The results develop assumption in how entrepreneur define, exploit, explore and sustain their local resources.
