"This book offers fresh perspective on global politics based on cosmopolitan perspective which is basically universal and inclusive. It exists and manifested in various forms in the world religions and philosophies. However, because of many factors, this perspective is neglected and forgotten. It is very important for us today to account on it and then contextualize cosmopolitanism as international paradigm in 21st century. Without cosmopolitan awareness and solidarity, it is impossible to have a world peace." Professor Komaruddin Hidayat, Muslim academic and intellectual from Indonesia. Professor of Philosophy of Religion, UIN Syarif Hidayatullah Jakarta.

"This is a compulsory reading for both theoreticians and practitioners in International Relations". Teuku Rezasyah, PhD. Senior Lecturer at International Relations Study Program, Padjadjaran University and Indonesian member delegation for the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF).

"This book with a straightforward language is very inspiring. It also offers a new perspective not only for IR students but also for wider community". Dr. Asep Kamaludin Nashir, Head of IR Department, Universitas Pembangunan Nasional "Veteran", Jakarta and Secretary General of AIHII (Asosiasi Ilmu Hubungan Internasional Indonesia).
